Foreward

The Carrier Pigeon is beautiful and white;
He never grows weary of his long flight.
We hope this CARRIER will always fly
Through a clear, sun-lit and cloudless sky.
May each page bring memories of the past
Of school days that hurried by so fast.

The Class of '62

As our last year together draws to an end,
And each must go his own way,
The road that leads to the narrow bend
Is the sunrise of another day.

Whether our petty troubles are washed ashore,
Or tossed to the bottom of the windswept sea,
We'll remember our friends evermore,
As we strive for a life of vic'try.

To our parents we owe so much
That in riches we can ne'r repay,
But maybe in our actions we can show
Adoration for them in some way.

And all of our teachers we hold most dear,
For they taught us all we know;
They worked so hard with us each year;
There is so much to them we owe!

The time draws near for us to part,
And as the time draws nigh,
We cherish sweet memories in our heart,
Of the happenings at Middleburg High.

As all of you Seniors must surely know,
There were no others quite like you,
And as one by one you go,
Farewell to THE CLASS OF '62.

JACKIE ARRINGTON

Motto

Here endeth; here beginneth.

Middleburg Seniors, here we come—
 We're a Class that never feels bum.
 The Freshman Class is lots too slow;
 The Sophomore Class simply don't know;
 The Juniors are actually in sight—
 But when it comes to Seniors, we're
 ALL RIGHT.

Prophecy

What will become of the Class of '62 is the question. But where to begin! If I could only consult various astrologers, witch doctors, and fortunetellers! But what could they tell me about my classmates that I don't already know.

As the Cuckoo Clock on the mantel chimed on the hour, I found that I was drifting off into a sound sleep. I felt myself drift into a strange land, one I had never seen before, but yet something about this place seemed familiar.

As I strolled down the street, (in my dream) I saw a sign which read: Royster and Hunt Garage. As I walked in, EDWIN ROYSTER and BILLY HUNT were sitting on the floor trying to think of a good excuse to get away from their wives tonight.

After talking a while, it was time to go to lunch, so I decided to go around the corner to Fleming's Hotel. As I walked in who should come over to greet me but my old pal BILLY FLEMING. Billy insisted we have lunch. While we enjoyed our lunch, two neatly dressed young ladies walked in. I was very surprised to see LINDA SATTERWHITE and JOYCE JENNINGS. Billy told me they are co-owners of a Ladies' Dress Shop in Raleigh.

Suddenly we heard music. I looked around and there was JAMES ANDERSON with his "Rock and Roll" band playing "Big John." JERRY HENDRICKS was the boss telling them what to do.

We heard a loud honk of a horn and looked up to see LOUISE HOLLOWAY in a new Ford convertible. She said she was very happily married and was living in California with her husband who was playing baseball as a career. It seemed that she had just left LOUISE CREECH'S new beauty salon and was on her way to New York to see JACKIE ARRINGTON, who was a private secretary for the National Bank. She soon left us.

After lunch Billy took me for a long ride around Middleburg. At the outskirts of the town Billy pointed out to me a beautiful country home and said it belonged to JUNE WYNNE. She finally trapped that Aycock boy!

He also told me that MARY ANN SHORT was one of the local girls who had moved away and that she was teaching school in Raleigh. ROBERT LANE and LEE HENDRICK were teaching science at State College.

I also learned that CAROLYN BUCHANAN had opened a beauty parlor in Greystone and seemed to be doing fine.

Billy said that RALPH ELLINGTON was farming but that he hardly ever saw him. That little Henderson girl really calmed him down.

TOMMY HENDRICK, he informed me, was Head Director of Electronics at Cape Canaveral in Florida.

He said that BILLY WATKINS just loved Old M.H.S. He was coaching there.

LINDA PERDUE was married to that "certain guy" living in the Dabney community. Billy said he quite often saw the two bachelors, PERRY ORR and BOBBY SHORT. They still had their eyes open.

Billy also said that PRESTON MOODY was a successful business man, living in Raleigh. BOBBY STAINBACK was still cutting meat in Satterwhite's Grocery. Only he had to cut a little faster because he had a wife and three little ones.

JIMMY HOLLOWAY was part owner in Newman-Seaman Grocery, since he had finally gotten that little Henderson girl.

LINDA KING was teaching school at Dabney High, still looking for that certain "guy."

Then I told Billy that I would not like to change places with any of them. I'd rather be married living in Greystone with two little girls.

Boy! What a dream.

MARY EDWARDS
Prophetess

J is for jolly, describing us all.
 U is unusual, we're smart though we're small.
 N is naive for we're young and we're gay.
 I is illustrious—as they all say.
 O is obliging—just ask us and see.
 R is our race—may we win is our plea.
 S is for Seniors—we hope soon to be.

Our Sophomore year in high school
 Has now begun.
 We're more settled and experienced
 And seem to have more fun.
 Our green color has now disappeared,
 Which we claimed we never had.
 But when you get right down to it,
 We really aren't so bad.

Freshmen! Freshmen!
 How innocent are we.
 Such a bunch of dumbbells
 You'd hardly wish to see.

We hardly know our A. B. C.'s
 Much less our horrid X. Y. Z's
 And Science, whew! what crazy bunk!
 We say it's just a lot of junk.

We know the road is steep and long,
 But then life can't be all song.
 And teachers tell, us that the way
 Is just to study hard each day.

And when we're "Seniors" at the top
 We don't then, even, mean to stop,
 But keep on 'till the game is played
 And show these folks of the stuff
 we're made.
